C2 Education to Celebrate Grand Opening With Free Study Skills Workshop

RAMSEY, N.J., (March 21, 2013) – C2 Education will host a free study skills workshop for the public and provide families in attendance with savings vouchers for up to $1,000 off tutoring services at the Grand Opening of their newest location in Ramsey, N.J.

The Grand Opening will be held on Sat. March 29 from noon until 2 p.m. The workshop, “Study Habits That Stick,” will be hosted by Benjamin Yun, director of digital learning for C2 Education. Yun is a veteran academic adviser and will share study tips intended to help students and parents create a personalized study routine to maximize grades and test scores.

“Study Habits That Stick” will begin at 1 p.m. following the ribbon cutting ceremony.

Ramsey Mayor Christopher C. Botta and Chamber of Commerce President Robert Tilton will preside over the ribbon cutting ceremony to herald the opening of the new tutoring center.

“As president of the Chamber of Commerce, we are always excited for new businesses, especially when dealing with education,” said Tilton. “We wish C2 Education the best of luck in our community and with any future endeavors.”

In addition to offering academic advisement and study skill development, the new C2 Education center will also provide local students and families with access to a wide range of fully personalized academic programs, including subject tutoring, SAT preparation, ACT preparation and college admission counseling. During the Grand Opening events, students and parents will have the opportunity to meet with members of C2 Education’s academic advising team, including Program Director Erich Jones. Jones is the primary academic adviser for the new Ramsey tutoring center. He leads a team of exceptional tutors, who are graduates of some of the nation’s top colleges and universities.

Grand Opening events for the Ramsey tutoring center will also include free refreshments and a raffle.

To learn more about C2 Education’s newest New Jersey learning center, contact the Ramsey location at 201-327-1600 or visit the center located in the Lincoln Plaza at 885 Route 17 South in Ramsey.

The tutoring center is currently accepting appointments for assessments and consultations.
